HONGKONG, FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1878.

THE considerable start of fifty-one hours obtained by the Gieneagles over the most formidable of her competitors in this year's tea race almost makes the chance of the former vessel arriving first at London a certainty. In these days of quick steam passages fifty-one hours is equivalent to probably about seven hundred knots, and, supposing the Loudown Castle month to overtake her competitor. Many rumours are affoat concerning the reasons for the mysterious collapse of the promised Portuguese Contingent for the Volunteers. There can be no doubt regarding the willingness of the majority of our Portuguese fellow-residents to serve, as, besides the precedent afforded by the Rifle Company in 1865, some seventy names were actually set down on paper about two or three months ago of Portuguese gentlemen who were willing to bear arms. The vast strides. recently made, however, in the matter of neutrality and its rigid observance have had so powerful an effect upon second-class powers, that the necessity of frowning down and stamping out the martial spirit exhibited in Hongkong by their countrymen has been recognised by the Consular authorities of Portugal in this Colony. Their subjects, therefore, are said to have been informed that much unpleasantness would be avoided by their not joining the bloodthirsty regiment known as the "H. K. V." It is whispered that the Macao authorities have, with some fear and trembling, given similar counsel to Portuguese residents here; and the Rifle Company has therefore collapsed. Who will say that those wise and discreet authorities do not thus exercise a kind and fatherly care over their brave and reckless countrymen? We should be the last to breathe such a suspicion, the more especially in view of the valiant official froth and nonsense which found public expression at Macao when the Hongkong Volunteers visited that sity in 1864!

Thursday, 30th. The tornado does not seem to have blown the evil auræ from Canton, and the climate of Shamien seems worse than ever. A correspondent informs us that there has been another death from typhoid in that little community—this time a young German belonging to the house of Messrs Carlowitz & Co., newly arrived from Europe, was the victim. His funeral took place yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon. There is a great deal of sickness about, both amongst natives and foreigners. Archdescon Gray is likely to leave us at once, the climate of Canton proving too trying for his estimable lady. Dr Chalmers has been laid up for some days with rheumatism or cramp; Dr Hance is confined to his bed with sciation, and the members of another family in the British Consular Establishment have been ailing for some time. Nor has the Customs altogether escaped. The weather is suddenly becoming alarmingly hot, and, generally speaking, things are looking somewhat gloomy and miserable for the future.

Extensive works are being done throughout Manila and in the different provinces and districts in the way of replacing or covering the roofs of mat and wooden houses, in the dangerous proximity of the aubstantially built ones, with tin plates and other incombustible materials, in accordance with the new measures devised by the authorities to prevent large conflagrations, which had been so frequent lately; and for this purpose the Civil Governor of Manila, accompanied by several public officials, went the other day to the different parishes to inspect the progress of the work. The weather has been intensely warm up to the 18th May in Manila, and there was a general cry for water in consequence of the absence of rain. Several water-courses were already dry. The temperature is desoribed as unbearable. The Diario says that " large numbers of dead fish were seen. floating in the river on the 18th May. Another fire has to be added to the unfortunately long list of disasters of this kind. At about 2 o'clock on the morning of the 11th May, fire broke out in the village of Gumaca, destroying some two hundred houses, which means about two-thirds of the houses in that locality. Ohina.

(Herald, May 23rd.)

There was another large fire in the western suburb on the evening of Sunday last, the 19th instant. A number of shops and private dwellings, chiefly of the poorer class, were destroyed, but we are glad to hear that there was less looting than usual.

The S. S. Glenfenlas, with the first direct shipments of new season's tea, left this port for London on the forencon of the 20th inst. It is expected that her cargo will be placed on the London market before the Hankow Teas, which, as a rule, are the first to arrive home.

We hear of a rather serious outbreak in the neighbourhood of Round Island, outside Sharp Peak. Attached to these shops there are in many instances a number of unemployed men and lade, and outside this circle again there are a still greater number and variety of persons without occupation or visible means of subsistence. All these people are more or less under the control of the Canton Guild,-a sort of imperium in imperio - the directors of which body seem ever ready to raise howl of indignation should any privileged Kwangtungite forget the difference between mine and thine. A recent case of piracy and murder near Matsau has, we believe, attracted considerable attention in native circles, and, if the story we have heard be correct, is a fair illustration of our subject. A party of armed Canton men recently surprised and captured a fishing boat outside Sharp Peak, after having, the heat was so intense as in the present it is alleged, murdered the crew. This band of worthies then proceeded to further acts of violence, causing quite a scare amongst the poor fishermen. But, alas! while planning the capture of a pilot-boat under Matsau, they were becalmed, and while in this extremity were attacked by the enraged fishermen and killed. was, perhaps, only even-handed justice, and in self defence, we cannot see that any other course was open to these injured authorities do little or nothing in the way of protecting either their lives or their property. Homewards, only two settlements are reported, and very low rates are now offered from this port for sailing vessels. From the Philippines there is but little inquiry at extremely low freights.

Coastwise, demand for the North has been slack, and rates are lower. For Bangkok and the Cochin China Ports a smal business has been done, and vessels are still wanted. For Saigon a few charters have been effected, but at low rates, and the demand is very uncertain.

From Foochow to the Colonies some small vessels have been taken up, but the rates paid are much lower than those of last MESSES DEAGON & Co.'s Canton Market Report, dated Canton, 80th May, says :---During the early part of the past fortnight, a quiet tone prevailed in our Tea market, but latterly more desire to operate has been shown.

Congous. - A fair business has been transacted, and prices have ruled in favor of buyers, settlements showing a decline about one tael on previous quotations. Scented Teas .- In the first week of the period under review, a very moderate business in Capers was reported, but latterly the demand has been more general ! former rates have been maintained, and no decline can be quoted in any kinds. Fine teas still continue very scarce. The price of scenting flewer has been high till within the past day or two, and natives have consequently

There may be further contracts in hand, but it is difficult to ascertain what has really been done, and prices paid have not transpired. Native dealers are asking $360 per picul for No. 4 Kowkong Teatlee and on that basis for other grades, but these figures are somewhat in excess of the ideas of the most foreign operators. Judging from musters shown, the quality of the crop is fair to good, and the thread fairly clean, the color however is rather dingy; there is said to be an unusually large quantity of fine silk. An abundant second yield is looked for, as leaves are in large supply, and the weather so far has been propitious. Of Long-reels, 120 piculs of Sculum, Kowkong and other sorts have been settled for export to India. Re-reels of New Crop have not been dealt in, and no offers are being made for these

Stock in Canton is estimated at about 400 bales Tsatlee, and 25 bales of Cumchuck
